

MMV AT A GLANCE

2 of 8

www.mmv.org

Medicines brought forward by MMV and partners:

- » Coartem® Dispersible (artemether-lumefantrine), a child-friendly formulation developed with Novartis;
- » Artesun®: Guilin's artesunate injection for the treatment of severe malaria;
- » Eurartesim® (dihydroartemisinin-piperaquine) with Sigma-Tau;
- » Pyramax®, (pyronaridine-artesunate) with Shin Poong;
- » Pyramax® Granules, a child-friendly formulation of Pyramax

Accelerating progress against malaria

Click to view our 15th anniversary animation

Click to view slideshow: "The individuals and families affected by malaria"

Medicines for Malaria Venture and partners research and deliver new effective and affordable antimalarials to give populations at risk of malaria a better chance of a healthy and prosperous future. The ultimate goal is for these medicines to contribute to malaria eradication.

halt and begin to reverse the incidence of malaria by 2015 – was achieved.

Yet malaria remains a major cause and consequence of poverty – disproportionately affecting women and children. Eliminating and ultimately eradicating the disease would vastly improve the lives of many vulnerable families in the developing world, helping to lift them out of poverty.

The lives of over 6 million people have been saved from malaria between 2001 and 2015. This impressive achievement was made possible with the global scale-up of control measures like bed nets, insecticides, diagnostics and medicines. As a result, Millennium Development Goal 6.C – to

Click to continue reading

Click to continue reading

